Many pious Ministers, when looking on an assembly to which they are about to preach Christ, doubt whether there is not a portion of those composing it, perhaps a large one, for whom He never died. Many hearers, when listening to a preacher proclaiming that the invitation of the Gospel is for all, think that though so worded it is not so meant. This state of things is not to be looked upon either with levity or anger. It is too serious for the one, too touching for the other. It is the result of earnest teaching on the most sacred of all subjects, the death of our Redeemer, by able and sincere men, well fitted and well worthy to influence their fellows. If their doctrine be scriptural, it will be no weaker for any little opposition we may offer to it; if erroneous, there is in the error a peculiar gloom, which overshadows, though it does not uproot, a considerable range of evangelical truths. If there is a man living for whom Christ died not, how fearful is his condition! For him there is no atonement. He stands face to face with pure justice, without Mediator or sacrifice, awaiting, with all his offences on his head, the exact punishment due to a heart at enmity with its Maker, and a life spent in rebelling against Him. For him there is no mercyseat. If ever a desire to say God be merciful to me rises in his mind, it is the movement of a false instinct. The mercyseat rests on the tables of eternal law. The innocent might come thither...
