Case VII.--J. M. The child was two years old and an imbecile. She was taken sick in the latter part of November with diarrhea. November 28th--No Shiga bacilli were found, but they were present on December 1st. She had diarrhea for one month and then recovered from this completely, but lost ground constantly and developed a very marked broncho-pneumonia, to which she succumbed on the 29th of January. For several weeks before her death her stools had been brown and normal, and examination failed to show the presence of any dysentery organisms. Autopsy.--There is a very marked broncho-pneumonia, with beginning abscess formation. The stomach and small and large intestines appear normal but for congestion. No hemorrhages,...
