Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from Reminiscences of the Last Year of President Lincoln s Life The crowd was very great. On the balcony of the president s house sat Gen. Scott, in full uniform, looking as majestic as old Jupiter of the ancient sculptors; while on a temporary platform around the flagstaff stood the president, ready to pull at a given signal. Among the spectators, directly before me, stood a man plainly dressed, with serious countenance, with his wife by his side, who was then known as Gov. Andrew Johnson, of Tennessee. Several years after, Mr. Johnson, referring to this occasion, said an occurrence took place which the superstitious would have considered an ill omen. He told me the president pulled the rope too long, so that the bunting of the flag was split, and he could but think at the time that he might be pained by the calamity of the great republic rent in twain, permanently. President Lincoln was not again seen by me until after the First Minnesota Regiment had the fiery trials at Bull Run, Fair Oaks, and the Seven Days battles terminating on Malvern Hill. Early in July, 1862, while the Army of the Potomac was resting around Harrison s Landing, on the James River, impelled by patriotism and impressed by the gravity of the situation, he came down to look Gen. McClellan in the face, and aid him to the extent of his power. Attracted by cheering, I looked in the direction from which it came, and saw two horsemen. One had short legs, but a fine body and presence above the hips, and was on a large horse, in military dress. It was...
